

It is a mantra on the lips of everyone involved with Ann Duffield Racing that this yard ensures above everything else that 'the horses come first'. Not only in their approach to equestrian care but also a reflection of their real results on the track, it is the philosophy that underlines Ann's growing status and popularity as a trainer.

Racing correspondent Richard Newberry observed recently "I suggest Ann Duffield is a successful up-and-coming trainer to follow" and it's no surprise that the yard is attracting attention with its consistently improving performance.

With over 30 two year olds currently at the yard and 60 horses in total, Ann Duffield Racing has not only quadrupled in size in the past two years but also generated some impressive track statistics for the 2006 season. With 30 flat winners and 48% placed, the figures are impressive by any standards and the prospects look promising for an even better 2007.

Ann Duffield Racing is acknowledged within the racing industry as having one of the best run and most immaculate yards, with huge emphasis placed on the importance of keeping the horses both happy and healthy. The yard is run by a dedicated team of high calibre staff, all with extensive experience, many of whom worked for prestigious stables abroad before coming to the UK to join the team at Ann Duffield Racing. Since his retirement as a famously successful jockey, Ann's husband 'Gentleman George' Duffield, is often to be seen around the yard, supporting Ann's work with young horses in particular and tending to the landscape design surrounds of the yard.

Ann seeks constantly to improve the facilities and performance of the yard, regularly re-furbishing the stable blocks and adding new boxes to accommodate the growing number of horses. Situated in Constable Burton, just outside the centre of Middleham itself, Ann Duffield Racing benefits from the wealth of top quality suppliers in this racing rich centre, but enjoys the exclusivity of its own gallops, including a newly re-surfaced all weather track.

This year’s Open Day event at Ann Duffield Racing has been sponsored by top quality feed merchants Spillers. The company supply key nutritional feeds to the yard and Ann believes they play a significant role in her success. “A good diet is crucial for our horses, and Spillers provide an excellent range of feeds which enable us to provide each

She explains “We are gaining a reputation for providing a friendly and supportive infrastructure to enable newcomers with no previous experience in owning a racehorse to get involved, either on their own, or with a group of other people. We can help them buy a suitable horse or become a shared owner of a horse already at the yard. People often don’t realise that they can
